VANDERLIP TESTIMONY IS DELAYED ONE DAY

Morgan County Will Not Pay The Primary Costs

LETTER CAUSES A HANDS-OFF POLICY

Probate Judge Is Told No Authority Given to Pay Charges

TO HAVE NOTHING TO DO WITH VOTES

Primary Would Cost in the Neighborhood of $700

The president's primary act of Alabama having been declared unconstitutional, if the March 11 primary for getting the will of the voters of Morgan county as to whom they desire for president is held, it will be held not at the expense of the taxpayers of the county.

Judge Lovick P. Troup, judge of probate, will decline to have anything to do with the proposed primary. He will not appoint men to hold an election, nor returning officers to bring returns to the county court house. He will not have any ballots printed.

Judge Troup made his decision to take no official notice of the proposed primary after having received a letter from Charles E. McCall, chief examiner of accounts, who lives in Montgomery.

Mr. McCall's letter is as follows.

"Hon. Lovick P. Troup, Judge of Probate, Decatur, Ala.

Dear Judge—Replying to your letter of 5th inst., you are advised that in accordance with an opinion the preferential presidential primary act is unconstitutional and any payment out of the county funds whether for printing ballots, payment of election managers, clerks and returning officers or any other outlays incident to the holding of such an election is without authority of law. You would not therefore be authorized to draw any warrant on the county treasury in payment of such claims and the treasurer or depository paying any money for such purpose would be illegally disbursing county funds."

Judge Troup explained this morning, that all told the cost of the proposed primary would be around $700.

He said five men would be required for every voting precinct and that they would expect to be paid $2.00 per day each, making the cost for poll holders alone of $330, there being 33 voting places in this county.

The printing, mileage allowed, clerk hire, etc., would bring the total cost to about $700.

Judge Troup said the letter of Mr. McCall was clear, and left him with no recourse except to let the proposed election alone."

CANDLER BARS BRIDE FROM MANSION

Mrs. Asa G. Candler, recent bride of the multi-millionaire coca cola king of Atlanta, Ga., has been barred from his marble mansion there, following her arrest with two men, William J. Stoddard and G. W. Keeling, in a fashionable apartment, all being charged with being "occupants of a dive." A bottle of liquor they were drinking was confiscated. Stoddard declared they were having a "business conference." Mrs. Candler having been his stenographer six years before her marriage. Candler has just successfully defended a $500,000 alienation of affections suit brought against him by Mrs. Onesima de Bouchell, of New Orleans. After breaking that engagement, he married his present wife, who was Mrs. Mary Little Ragin, a public stenographer.

HOSIERY COMPANY AUDITOR IS HERE

The Cooper-Wells Hosiery company, of Albany and St. Joseph, Michigan, has a representative here this week in the person of Benjamin Kasischke, a stockholder of the company and its auditor. Mr. Kasischke stated Wednesday he expected to complete his work here by Saturday afternoon and at that time return to his home in St. Joseph.

"I have never had the pleasure of being here before," the auditor stated "but the place, the people, and the mill have all impressed me very favorably. We have one of the most up-to-date plants here, anywhere. I understand that recently in one day's time with not nearly all our new machinery placed as yet, the mill made 615 dozen pairs of hose."

"A week's run at that rate would be close to 4,000 dozen pairs. Eventually when all machinery due to be placed in this particularly mill is in operation, our capacity here will be 1,000 dozen pairs of hose a day, or 6,000 dozen pairs per week."

"As is generally known we have made an additional purchase of land adjoining this mill site, but it is not our immediate intention to build further."

Mr. Kasischke is auditing the books of the Albany mill and is making a general survey of conditions here. While at the offices of the local plant, Mr. Kasischke called attention to a large engraving on the wall showing the Cooper-Wells company's plant at St. Joseph, Michigan, where many hundreds of employees are turning out thousands of dozen pairs of hose daily.

The tournament entries to date have been announced as sixteen teams from the North Alabama sections. Aside from the fact that a cup will be presented, the winner and the runnerup will go to Montgomery to compete in the regular titular battle March 3rd to 5th.

The local lineup will remain unchanged with the exception of the center position. Captain Pepper will start at center with Johnson and Laymons handling the forwards. Burns and McAfee are dependable guards. Central has enjoyed a successful season having been tested in only one contest and that by a single point margin. This defeat was later wiped out when Central met St. Bernard on the local floor and led at the final whistle with a six point lead.

FORMER JUDGE IS FOUND DEAD TODAY

(Associated Press)

MEMPHIS, Feb. 14—Ben F. Powell, an attorney and former judge of the Memphis juvenile court, was found dead in a clothes closet at his home here today with a bullet wound, apparently self-inflicted, in his head.

Mr. Powell had been in ill health for several years. Despondency because of his condition is believed to have prompted the act. Mr. Powell was 59 years old. He was born in Union Springs, Ala., and before coming to Memphis 20 years ago, practiced law in Montgomery. He served as judge of the juvenile court here two years and was one of the founders of the Memphis Newsboys club and, at various times, acted as special judge of the county criminal courts and as judge of the city court.

The tournament entries to date have been announced as sixteen teams from the North Alabama sections. Aside from the fact that a cup will be presented, the winner and the runnerup will go to Montgomery to compete in the regular titular battle March 3rd to 5th.

The local lineup will remain unchanged with the exception of the center position. Captain Pepper will start at center with Johnson and Laymons handling the forwards. C. OF C. TO DISCUSS POWER LINE PLAN

Called Meeting Will Be Held by Local Civic Organization

CITIZENS URGED TO ATTEND MEET

Directors Desire That Members' Opinion May Be Known

The members of the Albany-Decatur chamber of commerce today were urged to attend a called meeting at 7:00 o'clock Friday evening, when they will decide whether the local organization will or will not oppose the petition of the Alabama Power company for permission to construct a transmission line in the Tennessee Valley, as set forth in the petition now pending with the state public service commission.

It was explained by one of the officials of the local chamber that the directors did not care to assume the responsibility for a decision on the power company's petition, without some concrete expression from the membership.

For that reason, it was stated, the directors had decided to call the special meeting for Friday evening, in order that an opportunity might be provided for all who cared to discuss the proposal to do so and in order that the members might be permitted to vote on the matter.

It was urged that every member of the organization attend the conference. It was pointed out that action on the request has been taken by other chambers of commerce over the district.

The public service commission will meet here to hear both sides of the transmission line request on February 18. The meeting will be held at 10 o'clock in the auditorium of the Decatur city hall. It is said that many citizens of the Tennessee Valley will be present to give the commission the benefit of their views on the petition.

Marvin Dinsmore Twin City Visitor

Marvin Dinsmore, of Birmingham, candidate for the democratic nomination for president, under the primary act in Alabama, was here yesterday greeting friends. Mr. Dinsmore has many friends in the Twin Cities.

Mr. Dinsmore left at noon for Sheffield. He announced he would speak to the employees of the Louisville and Nashville shops at noon Friday. He expects to visit the Twin Cities again next week, he said, and will deliver another public address at that time.

Woman Hangs Herself in Cell

(Associated Press)

MEMPHIS, Feb. 14—When jail attendants made their morning rounds of the women's quarters at Central police headquarters here today they found Mrs. Mary Evans, 42, hanging from the overhead bars of her cell. The woman, who had been arrested for a minor infraction of the law, apparently had been dead for several hours.

Despondency because of her plight is believed by police to have prompted her to strangle herself to death.

Former Local Boy Visiting Relatives

Russell Chrissinger, who resided here several years ago, but who is auditor now for a large oil company in Chicago, is here the guest of his father, J. I. Chrissinger.

"I was in Oklahoma's oil fields on some business," Mr. Chrissinger said, "and decided to return home this way instead of by the northern route."

JOHNSON DIRECTOR COMMUNITY SINGERS

Selection Is Made at a Meeting at the Central Baptist

FUTURE CONCERTS ARE PLANNED

Sunday Program Is to Be Rendered Soon at Masonic

Following the regular mid-week prayer meeting at the Central Baptist church of Albany Wednesday evening, which was well attended, numbers of representatives of other churches of both Albany and Decatur came into the church auditorium for the purpose of holding the announced organization of the Community Singers.

L. R. Day was chairman of the meeting and, following the resignation of Mrs. F. F. Tidwell as president, the discussion of plans for the future service of the singers was taken up and the following officers were elected: L. R. Day, president; Gilbert Crane, vice president; C. L. Schöck, second vice president; Miss Kileen Day, secretary-treasurer; C. H. Johnson, director; Mrs. C. H. Johnson, accompanist.

The election for officers came after a number of the officers who had been serving signified their inability to continue to serve the organization; Mrs. F. F. Tidwell, resigning as president and Mrs. Seneca Burr as accompanist. The resignations of these officers were accepted with regret, as they had contributed largely to the success and popularity of the community sings.

It is the plan of the organization to await the time when the present entertainments scheduled in the city have been held, and then begin the regular Sunday afternoon sacred concerts. It was stated by one of the members of the club that the first of the concerts is to be given at the Masonic theater within a few weeks.

KIWANIS HOLD WEEKLY MEETING

The weekly meeting of the Morgan Kiwanis club, held this afternoon at the Lyons hotel, was attended by 56 of its members. Two new members, C. C. Cox and L. Roy Nash, were announced by President W. W. Fussell, who presided at the luncheon.

The guest list was as follows: Rev. E. Floyd Olive, pastor of the Southside Baptist church, the guest of C. J. Randolph; E. W. Hatcher, the guest of M. S. Bingham; Benjamin Kasischke, of the Cooper-Wells company, the guest of W. W. Rahm; S. D. Robinson, of New Orleans, the guest of J. W. Clifton; Charles W. Hall, of Birmingham, the guest of Charles Rountree.

When addresses were asked from the guests, Mr. Hall, who is here to lay off the golf links for the Valley Country club, explained how pleased he was with the farm of the club, saying it lay well and would support an excellent turf for golf links. The other guests made brief addresses.

A letter was read from Russell Speake, who is now in Hot Springs, Ark.

George D. Williamson, who has just returned from Clearwater, Fla., delighted his hearers with a brief account of his stay in the land of flowers. "I did not find anything down there but 'clear water,'" declared Mr. Williamson.

President Fussell read a letter from Robert S. Binkard, of the public information commission of a number of eastern railroads with offices in New York offering to send a railroad official to speak before the Kiwanis club. The offer of Mr. Binkard was accepted. The meeting of next week will be held Thursday evening at the Lyons hotel.

Expert Lifted the Lid Off Teapot Dome.

Harry Slater

Harry Slater, conservation expert and former colleague of Gifford Pinchot, now Governor of Pennsylvania, is said to have first lifted the lid from the scandal surrounding the leasing of the naval oil reserves in the Teapot Dome section. Mr. Slater for ten years has been secretary of the National Conservation Association, and is attending the hearings before the Senatorial investigating committee to Washington.

CHILD DEAD AT HOME OF PARENTS

Funeral services for Forrest Leon Verner were held Wednesday afternoon at the residence of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Verner, on 11th avenue, West Albany, with interment in the city cemetery.

The services were in charge of Rev. Noble R. Edwards, pastor of the First Christian church. The deceased was in his sixth year. One the very day of his death, the child who was regarded as strong and well, seemed to be in his usual health until taken with a severe attack of membranous croup. Although every effort was made by skilled physicians to save the child's life it was without avail.

Heflin Denies He Is Member of Klan

(Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 14—A flat denial that he was, or ever had been a member of the Knights of the Ku Klux Klan, was made in the senate today by Senator Heflin, democrat of Alabama, in the course of an address regarding his prospective investigation of alleged Texas land frauds.

Klan Meeting Held in Missouri Capitol

(Associated Press)

S. LOUIS, Feb. 14—The St. Louis Post Dispatch today publishes an article that the Ku Klux Klan held an evangelistic service in the hall of the house of representatives at the state capitol in Jefferson City last Sunday. The Post Dispatch story says the meeting was designed to attract the attention of outsiders.

BODY OF BROADWAY BUTTERFLY LAID TO REST UNDER NATIVE SOD

(Associated Press)

ALVARADO, Texas, Feb. 14—Louise Lawson was buried here today. The body of Alvarado's little girl came home last midnight and was met by a sorrowful group of people who had known her from the date of birth. These and most of the neighbors round about the old homestead paid their final tribute today.

The business houses of Alvarado were draped in crepe and their doors were closed.

Alvarado turned out, en masse, to the modest Baptist church where Louise first studied the scriptures and was baptized and where later she sang

FRESH SENSATIONS IN THE OIL PROBE

Newspaper Publisher Said Fall Told Him of Teapot Lease

ADMITS GETTING BIG OIL INTEREST

Finney Says That Fall Told Him to Deny Lease Existed

(Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 14—The oil committee decided today that Frank Vanderlip would not be called upon to testify until tomorrow.

(Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 14—While Frank Vanderlip waited to testify regarding his references to the sale of President Harding's Marion Star, the senate oil committee produced a fresh flock of sensation today from other witnesses.

John C. Shaffer, publisher of the Chicago Post, the Denver Rocky Mountain News and other newspapers, testified that Secretary Fall had told him in March, 1921, the very month he entered the cabinet, that he was going to lease Teapot Dome to Harry Sinclair. At that time Teapot was out under Mr. Fall's jurisdiction.

Mr. Shaffer told also how he, himself, had gotten a one eighth interest in Teapot, a Standard Oil company subsidiary, in connection with the Teapot lease, and gave up nothing in return. He had an old claim pending, he said, and Secretary Fall promised, merely for the asking, that he would be taken care of.

E. C. Finney, assistant secretary of the interior, testified before the committee his recollection was Secretary Fall told him, a short time before the Teapot Dome lease was announced the arrangements had been made with Harry Sinclair to give some land in reserve to John C. Shaffer, the publisher.

Finney said he disagreed with Oscar Sutro, counsel of the Standard Oil company of California, a previous witness, who held there was no legal authority for the Fall leases.

The witness could not recall all the circumstances, but said he would not deny Mr. Sutro's testimony as to their talk about the reasons for not asking Attorney General Daugherty for an opinion.

"My superior having decided on a policy," Mr. Finney said, "it wasn't up to me."

Finney said that there had been so-called bids for the offset wells in the California naval reserve and the Pearl Harbor tankage project. The bidders included the Standard Oil company of California, the Associated Oil company and the Donhey oil company.

Asked directly why Attorney General Daugherty was not asked for an opinion, Finney said the secretary did not regard it as necessary.

Finney said the Teapot Dome was handled largely by Secretary Fall.

Finney testified that Fall instructed him to issue a statement denying that leases had been entered into a week —only a few years ago—in the choir alongside those today who mourned with her relatives.

It was not the murdered Broadway butterfly to whom a final tribute was paid, it was Alvarado's little girl, Dr. R. J. McGinty of Walnut Springs, conducted the funeral services, assisted by the Rev. J. R. Dickson, pastor of the church.

All that was mortal of Louise Lawson was laid beneath her native sod and the banks of perfumed flowers the tenderness of the spring gardens, were wet with the tears of those who loved her and knew her only as their own little girl.

If his friends don't win Muscle Shoals for Henry Ford there is nothing in persistence.

The really dangerous agitators are those who do not know the value of money.

Harry Sinclair is more popular as a horseman than as an oil magnate.

Whenever officers and people make them feel that theirs is a dog's life, the bootleggers will quit it.

There is a good deal of difference in speaking for world peace and in offering $100,000 for some one to write about it.

Human life is said to become cheaper every year in proportion as the price of automobiles falls.

Mr. Fall gave some of his reasons for not testifying before the Senate oil inquiry committee, but he doubtless has others.

Narrow minded people generally get a better hold upon their convictions than do the broad minded.

An idealist is a person who tells the people what they need instead of asking them what they desire.

Mother's apron strings have never been overly popular, but the record shows the boys tied to them seldom fastened by iron chains.

Since the churches have filled their minds with the responsibility of raising millions, their members have had less time to criticize each other.

Professor Levermore killed two birds with one stone—he wrote a peace prescription for himself and one for the world.

Unless Secretary Denby is defended quickly and vigorously he is apt to go the way of many another innocent bystander.

The scandal created by the Candler is proving quite as delicious and refreshing to some as a certain well known beverage is to others.

CONSULTING THE STARS TO COOLIDGE'S DISADVANTAGE

Such stars of earth as Henry Ford are coming to the support of the destiny of President Coolidge. But the Rev. Arthur T. Brooks, an expert in astrology, has recently declared the following concerning the President:

"President Coolidge, as his horoscope indicates, is not essentially a politician of the typical variety and also a man who will not personally seek any office to satisfy his own aspirations, and we may see him as a man of destiny whose mission was to serve the nation at a critical moment and whose brief term in office was to prepare the way for another."

The temper of other G. O. P. nominees for the presidency may improve a bit if they shall know that Rev. Brooks is seeking to read the stars against Mr. Coolidge. And the President may feel that the minister in question would do much better if he would read his Bible more and the stars less. The President does seem to be a man who can and does seek office despite what the minister, turned astrologer, has to say to the contrary. And Coolidge may upset the readings of Rev. Brooks by doing something more than the way for another.

Henry Ford has added one more to his many valuable accomplishments—he has become a great teacher of Congressional investigation committees by refusing to go before them.

When only valuable things were described on expensive paper, the expression "gilt-edge securities" meant quite a different thing from what it now does.

As well accuse Asa Candler of stirring up the present social gossip at Atlanta to advertise the drink that made him rich as to say Ford agrees to take Muscle Shoals for what publicity he could get.

It is said leaders against the Bok peace prize award will appeal to the courts. Let us hope for Mr. Levermore's sake that his winning will not be involved.

DENBY AND OIL RESERVES

Although the resignation of Secretary Denby from the navy department is in doubt, yet there are many who believe that it should occur for the good of the country. There is no proof and doubtless no accusation of any guilt or corruption on the part of Mr. Denby, but his name and his official record are under a cloud of suspicion, while there is no manner of doubt that his incapacity to perform his full duty is revealed by his weak surrender of a vital naval resource.

It cannot be said in Mr. Denby's defense that he was the unwitting tool of the private effort to gain control of an invaluable oil concession. Mr. Denby, according to the testimony before the Senate committee, went deliberately and directly counter to the advice and earnest solicitation of all the naval experts. For example, while both Mr. Fall and Mr. Denby declared they made the transfer to save the government from the loss of all the oil by leakage, yet Mr. Heald, chief of the oil and gas section of the United States Geological Survey, testified on October 29: "I have made and estimate of the drainage, but I did not carry it out to the ultimate refinement, because it became apparent that the drainage would not be serious." Commander H. A. Stuart of the navy engineers two days later testified that he had disapproved the transfer of the oil reserves to the interior department and that he knew of no other officer in the navy who did approve, nor of any occasion why the transfer should have been made. Admiral Robinson, commander of the Engineers, said that he favored the transfer, but his testimony later showed that the source of his information as to the alleged leakage at Teapot Dome was no other than Edward L. Denby, himself, in person!

That the technical and engineering officers in the navy, which is the department of Mr. Denby, were unalterably and vigorously opposed to the transfer of this property to the department of the interior, thence to private control and exploitation, is indicated in a letter dated July 8, 1921, written by Mr. Fall to Mr. Doheny, which stated: "There will be no possibility of any future conflict with navy officials and this department, as I have notified Secretary Denby that I shall conduct the matter of naval leases, under the direction of the President, without calling any of his force into consultation unless I conferred with him personally upon a matter of policy." This is internal evidence that the officers of the navy not only disapproved the leasing of these priceless reserves, but they used all the means at their command to oppose it, with the result that the secretary of the interior, without protest from the secretary of the navy, cut them out of the picture!

And although Mr. Denby disclaimed technical knowledge and said that he was leaving such details to the experts, himself looking only for results, yet it is of record, through his own testimony and that of others, that he rejected and repudiated his experts of the navy, and accepted instead the information and advice given by the experts of the oil interests. He not only himself did not inquire into the details of this momentous transaction, but he scorned and humiliated the patriotic and able men of his own expert staff, who sought to point out to him the danger of the surrender of the reserves, and the fallacy of the argument on which the surrender was based. Mr. Denby admitted that he was incapable of handling the reserves in an informed manner, and gives the impression that he sought to remedy that by cutting his responsibilities down to fit his capacities, instead of withdrawing and giving opportunity for the appointment of a successor of adequate capacity.—Age Herald.

Fresh Sensation in the Oil Probe

after Teapot actually had been leased to Sinclair.

Explaining how he came to sign the Denby Pearl Harbor contract, he said Fall was in New Mexico, and wired him to sign, after the secretary had studied the summary of the bids sent him at his home.

Chairman Lenroot put into the committee record this telegram from one of the purchasers of The Star:

"Roy D. Moore and I will be in Washington Friday and request that either or both of us, be permitted to tell the senate oil investigating committee what we know about the purchase of Mr. Harding's paper."

The committee, apparently, had reached no decision to recall E. L. Donhey and ask him whether he ever attempted to employ Bainbridge Colby former secretary of state, and former law partner of President Wilson. Committee members have been asked to put that question to Donhey, whose attorney, Frank J. Hogan today issued this statement:

"Neither Mr. Colby nor any law firm with which he was connected was ever retained, or employed by Mr. Donhey or any company in which he was interested at any time before, during or since he was a member of President Wilson's cabinet, nor did Mr. Donhey, at any time, offer to retain or employ Mr. Colby in any manner whatsoever."

WASHINGTON, Feb. 14—Frank A. Vanderlip arrived at the oil committee room a few minutes in advance of the hour which was set for the hearing. The committee assembled at 10:10 a. m. and then disappointed the crowd by calling first, Oscar Sutor, counsel for the Standard Oil company, of California.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 14—John C. Shaffer, publisher of The Chicago Post and a number of other papers, was questioned by the oil committee today about a reputed grant to him of one eighth interest in the Pioneer Oil company, a subsidiary of the Standard Oil company, "for services rendered."

Senator Walsh, democrat, Montana, produced what he said was a record of proceedings of directors of the Pioneer company, making such a grant.

Mr. Shaffer said he had never heard of those proceedings. He did hold, however, an eighth interest in the company, he said, but he had sold it. When asked what services he had rendered the company, he answered none.

He said he had land adjoining Teapot Dome.

A letter to Assistant Secretary Finney, from Shaffer, dated April 19 1922, was put into the record. In it the publisher said "that he had a personal interest in this deal" and added "Secretary Fall had arranged with Mr. Sinclair for some acreage for me personally."

Just before the letter was read the witness had testified he had no interest in the Sinclair lease. Asked if his memory was now refreshed, he said way back in 1917 he had applied for land on Teapot and had been promised 200 acres by Secretary Fall.

"Was it your opinion that anybody could go to Secretary Fall and demand a share in the Sinclair lease, or money for it?" he was asked.

"I think so," Shaffer replied.

"He could distribute the interest around just as he saw fit?"

"I think so."

Shaffer said his payment for the Pioneer company came out of the $1,000,000 paid that company by Sinclair.

"The Pioneer people felt we had a common interest in the Teapot hold-

HOW DOCTORS TREAT COLDS AND THE FLU

First Step in Treatment Is Calotabs, the Purified and Refined Calomel Tablets That Are Nauseless, Safe and Sure.

Doctors have found by experience that no medicine for colds, coughs, sore throat, and influenza can be depended upon for full effectiveness until the liver is made thoroughly active. That is why the first step in the treatment is the nauseless calomel tablets called Calotabs, which are free from the sickening and weakening effects of the old style calomel. Doctors also point out the fact that an active liver may go a long way towards preventing influenza and colds and is one of the most important factors in enabling the patient to successfully withstand an attack and ward off pneumonia.

One or two Calotabs at bed time, with a swallow of water—that's all. No salts, no nausea nor the slightest interference with your eating, pleasure or work. Next morning your cold has vanished, your liver is active, your system is purified, and you are feeling fine, with a hearty appetite for breakfast. Genuine Calotabs are sold only in original sealed packages, price thirty-five cents for the large, family package; ten cents for the small vest-pocket size.—Advt.

ings, in case the dome was ever thrown open to the public."

"They made the proposal to give it to me. I gave up nothing. It was their idea."

WASHINGTON, Feb. 14—E. C. Finney, assistant secretary of the interior was quoted today before the oil committee as saying "Secretary Fall considered it unnecessary to have Secretary Daugherty to pass upon the validity of the oil leases before they were made." The testimony was given by Oscar Sutor, counsel for the Standard Oil company of California. He told the committee that he had suggested to Mr. Finney that a department of justice opinion be sought.

MAY FINISH ROADS IN FOUR MONTHS

Given reasonably good working weather, the present road building program of Morgan county should be completed in four months time, stated E. M. Hatener, in charge of the local office of G. C. Some of the work on the county roads has been sublet by the Goodrich company and some of the work is being done directly by this company. Mr. Hatener stated that J. E. MY HUSBAND'S LOVE

Adele Garrison's New Phase of

Revelations of a Wife

The Time Drew Near for Departure.

HARRIET BRAITHWAITE drew a breath at Lillian's nonsense, but looked at the steadily.

"I ought to warn you," she said, "that though Edwin and I both drive occasionally, we are very mediocre pilots, and we know next to nothing about the mechanism of a machine if it should break down."

"A breakdown for any cause but tire trouble is most improbable with that fool-proof car of mine," I answered cheerily, "and I suppose Edwin can help put on a spare if it should be necessary, which I am sure it won't—my tires are in good condition."

"Oh, yes, he can do that," Harriet answered, "and I am so glad you have decided to go. I don't cold, and at the very worst it would be better to draw the machine to one side of the road and wait until daylight than to stay here and run the risk of having a watch set upon us."

The terror which was upon her was evident, and I marvelled anew at the change which the children of her dead sister had made in her lately, self-contained existence. "Here was but one necessity before her now, and that the one of getting them safely out of reach of their father's family."

Harriet hears the plans.

"That is what I think," I agreed heartily. "But I am sure a contingency like that will confront us. We shall be sound asleep in some village inn on the north side long before midnight."

"Let us hope so," she answered. "When do we start?"

"As soon as we hear that evening train pull out," I answered, and then I told her of Lillian's plan to take the daughter and the children across the road to New York on the train in an effort to mislead the detective who already had appeared at the farm. It was Harriet's first knowledge of the plan, and her face paled as she listened.

"But suppose he isn't fooled," she quavered.

"Well, we'll have done all that's humanly possible," Lillian said shortly, and I knew that her dislike of my sister-in-law was being augmented by her objections to the plan so carefully thought out. "And even if he never gets on the train at all, he'll have a fine chance trailing you out that wood road at the back of the farm on a night like this."

Katie's knock at the door, and her announcement of dinner sent Harriet scurrying to the library where

HER PROBLEMS -- By Annette Bradshaw

MAKING A DISPLAY IN THE BEST RITZ MANNER.

MILDRED—Thank you for thinking it stunning, Agnes. Truth to tell I think so myself. When Cousin Mary wrote me from Paris describing such a gown she had seen at the Ritz, I was wild to have one. Then it occurred to me that the beautiful ostrich fan that Aunt Mildred left me was falling to pieces. So I used its plumes to cascade down my evening gown in the best Ritz manner.

HEROINES OF HISTORY

Significant Incidents in the Lives of Famous Women

By MARK STUYVESANT

A Woman Whose Opinions Napoleon Valued.

IN Paris in the last half of the eighteenth century a very happy family lived. They were aristocrats. The father held an official position at court and he was the nephew of a minister to the king, Louis Sixteenth.

His name was Vergennes and in his home with his wife and two charming young daughters all was peace and happiness.

Then came the terrible year of '89. Vergennes left his post with the royalists and enlisted with the revolutionists. Because of his adherence to the cause of liberty, he gave his life and was guillotined in 1794.

Paris was not safe now for any one who had ever been an aristocrat—no matter what their allegiance it was while living in the country for Napoleon came into power that the friendship of Madame Vergennes and Josephine, who had been a friend of the former when she was Madame Beauharnais, was renewed. And it was through this association that M. de Remusat was installed at Fontainebleau as a member of Napoleon's suite while his young wife was honored as lady-in-waiting to the Empress Josephine.

It was at court that this brilliant young woman shone. She was a woman of exceptional character and was cherished as the most helpful of all the women of the court to the Empress.

Madame de Remusat was not only a woman of the highest qualities of womanhood, but she was brilliant as well. It is said that Napoleon and the great Talleyrand valued her was—so the stricken widow and her two daughters fled to the quiet valley of the Montmorency.

Here grew up the two girls in the quiet of the country, their education being directed by their mother and a former friend of their father's—M. de Remusat.

During the long winter evenings and in the lovely summer French twilights the elder daughter and the cultured friend spent many happy hours together, which resulted in their marriage, for Claire Vergennes, much to her mother's delight, married M. de Remusat.

Claire was sixteen. Her husband was eighteen years her senior. When she was seventeen she was a mother. And as one of her biographers writes: "Her education under the tuition of her husband continued at the cradle of her son."

ODD and INTERESTING FACTS

The first day of February, Candlemas Eve, was formerly the appointed day for taking down and burning all the Christmas decorations, the tradition being that it was unlucky to have any relics of the Yuletide festivities about the house on Candlemas Day. Modern housewives, with more advanced ideas of cleanliness and hygiene than their predecessors, clear away all the dust-gathering overgrown much earlier.

It was on June 14, 1777, that the Continental Congress adopted the flag. Agitation for the observance of this day was begun about forty years ago, when Dr. B. J. Cigrand, of Chicago, wrote a number of articles on the subject. The suggestion was soon taken up by a number of organizations and schools, which began to observe the day as the "Flag-Birth-Day." In 1893, Cigrand and his friends organized the opinions highly and that she was sought after to discuss many affairs of importance, for her wisdom was unusual.

For many years, every evening, Madame de Remusat entered in her journal the happenings of the day. She was a born writer and it was a very natural thing for her, when her official life was over, to write her "Memoirs to the Empire." This was followed by a splendid volume, "The Education of Women," which was a prophecy of what has taken place to-day regarding the improvement of such education.

But of all other distinguished attainments, she took pride only in being a devoted wife and mother. She died at the age of forty-one, and of her at the time of her death her confessor, the Abbe Duval, said: "She served God in the world."

HOME-MAKING HELPS

"Everything About the House Helps to Make the Home"

By WANDA BARTON

Shift Your Dinner Table to the Best Position.

WHERE do you eat?

This is not one of the many foolish questions, or a new game. It is just a desire to know whether you are still old-fashioned enough to insist on eating in the middle of a room. Many of our so-called "best people" and faithful followers of tradition have been forced to change their tactics and eat all but banquet meals away from under the chandelier which has hung over them for generations.

The table has been shifted to a more artistic center where candle or electric light meets its every demand. The table of today has ceased to be in evidence when not needed, leaving the center of the room for other uses. The drop-leaf table of period or modern style is now serving small families. When not in use, it is reduced in size by dropping the leaves and moved back out of the way.

Instead of the day-cloth, the table is simply decorated with a pretty centerpiece or runner of some sort on which a fruit or flower dish, candlesticks or an Indian basket may be placed. The flowers, themselves, may be of shell, beads, paper, wood, wax, velvet or fish scales, and the fruit of papier-mache or rubber.

In one house we find a settee built in a corner of the dining-room and a rectangular-shaped table sitting in the angle with two carved chairs to make places for four at the table. Properly set, this makes an attractive place to dine and one out of the old order of things.

At another home we find in an inviting bay window, an oblong table with a long bench at either side and carved chairs at the ends. There is nothing to obstruct the view and it is a light, cheery place to eat. The center of this room is dark, as a rule, for the ceiling is high, so the only cheery place is the one where the table now stands. This is quite a sensible arrangement. Every one likes change and it is happier because of it.

Still another home has the table placed near a big open fireplace, a little back so that the heat is not too intense. There is a short bench at either end and a longer one at the side facing the fire, so that all may see it while seated during the meal. No high chair backs obstruct the view. Another innovation has been made by having the table cut down a bit lower than ordinary, which is a wonderfully comfortable idea. It gives one a chance to look at the food on one's plate at a more comprehensive angle and places the arms at a better height to master the cutting of one's food. This is a novel idea, worthy of consideration.

Another novel arrangement of a table for two is in the studio of an artist whose place is rather small, but built in the center of an old-fashioned garden. The table descends upon the family, so to speak, for it is part of the oak beamed ceiling. It comes down on steel rods to exactly the right height and is held there as long as needed. Then, after a button is pressed, it slowly goes up and fits in place. This idea is unusual, to say the least, and the table is out of the way when out of use.

Individual service and no carving at table allow the use of a table that is much smaller than that which we used to think a necessity. It is more intimate and cozy than the old-fashioned round or square table. Table tops are another reason why, for ordinary times, the small table may do. For special dinners, extra tops are sometimes used. A local carpenter will make any sort that you cannot purchase. This is much more sensible than the system of the old days when we struggled with the extension that would collapse if it were extended the least bit too far, or refused to extend at all if not in good working condition.

The world moves and we must move along with it. Why insist upon eating under the chandelier just because our mothers and grandmothers did? Probably the dear ladies would move as quickly as any one else, once convinced it was the proper thing to do. Because we have done certain stupid things for years is no reason to keep on doing them. Choose a new place for your table now, move it before Sunday's dinner and see if the family doesn't approve.

Gaby Just Had to Make Some Like Them.

GABY is always sewing on some dainty bit of underwear.

I came into the maids' room to-day and found her on her hands and knees on the floor.

"What in the world are you doing?" I queried.

"Getting ready to cut out something," Gaby answered.

"Why the awkward position?" I asked, with a smile.

"I never could cut out things on a table, the way most people do," Gaby confessed, laughing.

"Why not try spreading it on a bed?" I asked.

"I did that once and cut mother's best counterpane. I've never used a bed for that purpose since," Gaby confessed.

"Well, what are you cutting?" I asked.

"But before she could answer I caught sight of some heavenly by-dragones blue material she had thrown over a chair at her side.

"Oh!" I exclaimed. "One of my favorite colors!"

"It is lovely, I think," Gaby said.

"What are you making?" I asked.

"I saw some like these in a shop window," Gaby continued.

"Do you like to make pajamas?" I asked. "I hate to make them."

"They are more trouble than nighties usually," Gaby agreed.

"Then why bother?" I asked.

Gaby insists that I'm always looking for short cuts, and perhaps I am.

"Well, these will be easy to make, because you simply turn deep folds of the material back to hem the coat and sleeves and trousers," she explained.

YOUR HEALTH

Inflammation of Nerves Causes Pains of Neuritis

By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M.D.,

United States Senator from New York, Former Commissioner of Health, New York City.

WE have little sympathy for a sufferer unless we can visualize his ailments. If there is a big cut across the cheek, a wounded eye, a crushed hand, an amputated leg, or even a facial expression indicating serious illness—we can condole with and pity the person so marked.

But if the complaining individual looks well and eats heartily, we look askance upon his insistent murmurings. We consider him a croaker and a grunter.

As a matter of fact, however, there are great sufferers in this world who show no external evidences of the disability. One of the diseases capable of causing intense pain without visible sign of trouble is popularly called neuritis. The pain may incapacitate the victim. It is so agonizing that concentration on any labor, physical or mental, is impossible.

The name "neuritis" means inflammation of a nerve. Nerves consist of bundles of fibres, surrounded by a delicate covering, called the sheath. In neuritis there may be inflammation of the covering, or the disease may show itself by a disturbance within the sheath and between the nerve fibres. In severe and protracted cases, the fibres themselves become inflamed.

In the beginning, the disturbance may be confined to a limited portion of a nerve. After a while, it may extend along the nerve, or attack other nerves. When it involves a lot of nerves, it becomes more formidable and is known as "multiple neuritis" or "polyneuritis."

If the pain is long continued and very severe, the rest is disturbed. Then, for lack of sleep, there may be marked effect upon the vitality, loss of appetite and gradual undernourishment of the body.

Usually, and particularly in mild cases, there is little constitutional derangement. But it is easy to discover what is wrong, because the affected nerve is very sensitive to pressure. Sometimes the overlying skin is reddened and the parts may be considerably swollen, causing the surface to be hard and glazed in appearance.

You know there are two kinds of nerves—motor nerves and nerves of sensation. The former control the movements of the body. They are the wings, so to speak, which carry the messages from the brain to the muscles. When the brain wants your hand to close, the message is sent down to the muscles and they immediately act to couple up your fingers.

If there is a neuritis, involving important nerves which communicate with your hand muscles, there may be such interference with your power as to make you hopeless. Your hand may be as useless as if it were dead.

In certain forms of neuritis involving this region there may be "wrist drop." That is, the muscles are powerless and the hand droops at the wrist, falling down much as a dog's paw hangs down when you make him "sit up, Fido."

More commonly there is power to move the muscles, but motion is so painful that the victim dreads to make the effort.

If the neuritis involves a nerve of sensation, there may be itching and tingling or there may be numbness, with loss of all feeling perhaps. The attack may last a few days or for several months. It all depends on the cause.

To-morrow I will tell you something about the causes and the treatment of the disease.

FRIDAY, FEBRUARY 15.

Fairly active and satisfactory conditions may be forecast from the ruling lunar operations. Those in the employment of others are in line for recognition or advancement, if undeniably deserving, although care should be taken not to be offended by trifles. New projects may be taken into consideration, but particular care should be taken in the matter of contracts, letters and all writings. With good judgment and proper attention to opportunities for advancement, progress and success should reign.

Those whose birthday is, have the prospect of a fortunate and progressive year if they handle opportunities wisely and do not jeopardize their good fortune by ill-temper or resentment against trifles. Employment is favored, as are new business and contracts. Caution should be used in all writings and documents. A child born on this day is destined to rise to a good position in life despite the fact that he may be impulsive. These qualities should be controlled in infancy.

What the Press Agents Say

One of the most interesting comedy dramas that has been offered here will be shown at the Princess theater next Friday and Saturday. It is a picture of "The Man Next Door," by Emerson Hough, author of "The Covered Wagon," and shows with exceptional fidelity life on a great ranch in Wyoming contrasted with the shallow life of society in a great city.

There is in this picture, a remarkable variety of scenes and sets, an intimate picture of life on a great ranch with its foibles and fun, including swaying scenes of the great West, while the five times showing the magnificent mansion built by the millionaire cattleman for his daughter in the city, reveals some of the most lavish studio sets ever built.

Women will be exceptionally interested in "The Man Next Door." It tells the story of a girl reared among the hard riding cowpunchers until she is sixteen and her transformation into a young debutante. Alice Calhoun, who plays Bonnie Bell Wright, wears some of the most magnificent gowns that have been seen on the screen.

The story tells of this wealthy young girl's effort to find friendship in a great city, and the heart interest in this comedy drama lies in the struggle of this girl for happiness. She learns that riches are no guarantee of love.

David Torrence plays the wealthy cattleman, who is the father of Bonnie Bell. Frank Sheridan plays Curly, the inimitable character so beloved by readers of Emerson Hough, and Jimmy Morrison plays the hired "man next door." The production, was directed by Victor Schertzinger, to whom Vitagraph gave unlimited expense.

SLIGHTED FRENCH BEAUTY DRIVES JUDGE TO COVER

NICE—Ten years ago Mademoiselle Callmon was the most beautiful girl in southern France. While her popularity was at its height because of her having won first prize in a beauty contest, a Nice merchant proposed marriage to her and was accepted. He was drafted into the army before her marriage, and went to Morocco in military service for four years. His affection cooled at the end of his military service, and he sought to have the engagement cancelled. Mademoiselle Callmon, however, regained his affections and lived happily for six years in the thought that she would one day marry the merchant, but the tenth anniversary of their betrothal he declared the engagement null.

Mademoiselle Callmon then brought suit for 100,000 francs damage. In the court she displayed the pictures of the girl whose beauty had been the toast of the Riviera and declared her unfaithful suitor had made it impossible for her to think of another man.

"But why?" the judge asked. "Would you take a girl who was engaged for ten years to another man, and then jilted by him?" the woman questioned.

"At once," the judge replied. "Well, here I am, judge," she countered.

"Oh, I am married already," the embarrassed judge replied.

The court then proceeded to award Mademoiselle Callmon 8,000 francs damages, and cautioned the defendant not to prolong another engagement for ten years.

Neat's-Foot Oil.

Neat's-foot oil is obtained from the feet of such animals as oxen and sheep. American Plant in England. Introduced by accident in 1879 into the Bay of Southampton, at Heston, an American plant, called the Spartina Townsendi, has spread rapidly along the English coast, flourishing vigorously in spite of the fact that it is under water part of the time. The plant is an excellent fodder for cattle and may possibly be used for paper pulp. It may be introduced to the French coast to bind the shifting sands.

Kathleen Mavourneen Loan.
A debtor, on being sued, acknowledged that he had borrowed the money, but declared that the plaintiff knew at the time that it was a Kathleen Mavourneen loan. "A Kathleen Mavourneen loan?" questioned the magistrate, with a puzzled look. "That's it, your honor—one of the 'it may be for years, and it may be for ever sort'."

Highest Bridge in U. S.
It is claimed that the suspension bridge over the Snake river, near Twin falls, in southern Idaho, is the highest in this country, if not in the world. The actual measurement is 345 feet from the floor of the bridge to the stream, and the length of the span is 688 feet. Aside from its extreme height, the bridge is of interest because, although materials had to be hauled a great distance, the structure was completed in four months.

MISS BRANDSTROM EXPENDS MONEY RAISED IN AMERICA

STOCKHOLM—Miss Elsa Brandstrom, called "the angel of Siberia" has begun the investment of the $100,000 which she raised by her popular lectures in the United States last year in the cause of the widows and children of central European war prisoners in Russia.

Miss Brandstrom has established a children's home at the castle of Neusorge, near Mit-weide, in Saxony where the children can be brought up in cheerful surroundings and under the best of care. The instruction is to be individual and practical, including such things as household management and gardening.

Plump Ankles Lengthen Skirts.

LONDON—Because women's ankles have increased in size through the wearing of very tight shoes, dresses are to be longer in length. This is what the Paris experts have told proprietors of the principal west-end stores, and it is in the intention of fashion-creators to design dresses in such a way as to give only a slight glimpse of ankle.

Grow Cotton Profitably
By J. C. FORD
County Agent

A well known farmer who lives near Decatur told me a few days ago that the boll weevil and the farm bureau were the two best things that had ever come his way. Last year he mixed his own fertilizer using 200 pounds acid phosphate, 100 pounds nitrate of soda and 100 pounds kainit per acre and made over 500 pounds of lint per acre on his entire crop. He states that with this fertilizer he can make more cotton on 6 acres than he made on 12 or 15 acres before the boll weevil came by fertilizing the old way. This farmer's experience is just one of many. The way to insure a profitable crop of cotton in spite of the boll weevil is to use a complete home mixed fertilizer high in available nitrogen, being sure to use plenty of it. The mixture referred to above analysis about 8-4-1-2-3 and can be mixed at home for about $25.00 a ton. By substituting 25 pounds muriate of potash for the 100 pounds of kainit, the mixture analysis about 10-5-4 and costs a little less than $30.00 a ton, 325 pounds of this mixture is equal to 400 pounds of the one mentioned above.

the near future.

Inasmuch as all home coming visitors will come first to Louisville where the celebration will center for the week beginning June 16, the Southern railroads which operate in Kentucky have included in their offer reduced round trip rates from this city to all points in the state. This will be a special privilege for many visitors who desire to participate in the celebrations which are to be held throughout the state during the second week beginning June 23.

Round trip fares of a fare and a half represent the greatest concession that can be expected from railroads these days, it is said.

Bronchitis Best Treated With Vapors

Direct Treatment with Vaporizing Salve Immediately Reaches Congested Air Passages.

If a cold has been neglected and has gone down into the chest, producing acute bronchitis, thoroughly redden the skin over throat and chest with hot, wet towels to open the pores. Then massage briskly with Vicks for five minutes, spread on thickly and cover with two thicknesses of hot flannel cloths.

For hours after Vicks is applied the vapors of Camphor, Menthol, Eucalyptus, Juniper Tar, etc., are inhaled directly into the infected air passages. At the same time Vicks is absorbed thru and stimulates the skin like a poultice or plaster.

Being externally applied, Vicks is especially good for children and is used by millions of mothers to prevent or relieve cold troubles.

Child-birth

WHEN the Little One arrives, you can have that moment more free from suffering than you have perhaps imagined. An eminent physician, expert in this science, has shown the way. It was he who first produced the great remedy, "Mother's Friend," Mrs. C. J. Hartman, Scranton, Pa., says:

"With my first child I had a doctor and a nurse and then they had to use instruments, but with my last two children I used 'Mother's Friend' and had only a nurse; we had no time to get a doctor because I wasn't very sick—only about ten or fifteen minutes. Use 'Mother's Friend' as our mothers and grandmothers did. Don't wait, start today, and meanwhile write to Bradford Regulator Co., B. A. T. Atlanta, Ga., for a free illustrated book containing information every expectant mother should have. 'Mother's Friend' is sold by all drug stores—everywhere."

They Paid $200,000,000

for Studebaker cars last year

Find out why folks did it

LAST year 145,000 people paid over $200,000,000 for Studebaker cars.

The demand for these cars has almost tripled in three years. It has become the sensation of Motordom.

There is a new situation in the fine-car field. You should learn what it means to you.

Studebaker had to lead in this field. This concern has led in its lines for two generations. Any other place would be unfitting.

This is how we became the world's largest builders of quality cars.

$90,000,000 assets

Studebaker has $90,000,000 of assets. Of this $50,000,000 is invested in modern plants and equipment.

We have spent $32,000,000 for new plants and equipment during the last five years. So they are modern and efficient. They contain 12,500 up-to-date machines.

We have $10,000,000 in drop forge plants, $8,000,000 more in body plants. So we build complete cars without paying other makers' profits.

Learn Why 145,162 Bought Studebakers in 1923.

Studebakers hold the top place in the fine car field today.

In 1919, the public paid over $80,000,000 for 39,356 Studebaker cars.

In 1920, the public paid over $100,000,000 for 51,474 Studebaker cars, an increase of 31% over 1919.

In 1921, the public paid over $120,000,000 for 66,643 Studebaker cars, an increase of 29% over 1920.

In 1922, the public paid over $155,000,000 for 110,269 Studebaker cars, an increase of 66% over 1921.

In 1923, the public paid over $201,000,000 for 145,162 Studebaker cars, an increase of 32% over 1922.

In 1924, business has opened with Studebaker as never before.

Learn why all these buyers preferred Studebakers.

factory before it leaves the factory.

Those enormous facilities enabled us to produce the utmost in a car. And we had the will to do it.

No stinted costs

We never stint on costs. Every steel used is the best steel for its purpose, regardless of the price.

Then on some steels we pay makers a 15 per cent bonus to insure exactness in them.

Every Studebaker car is Timken-equipped. The Special-Six and the Big-Six have more Timken bearings than any car selling under $5,600 in America.

The Light-Six more than any competitive car within $1,000 of its price.

We use genuine leather upholstery.

We use Chase-Mohair for the closed car upholstery. Some good upholstery would cost $100 less.

To curb vibration, we machine all surfaces of crank shafts, as was done in Liberty Airplane Motors. Very few cars do that.

How such prices?

How can we give such extra values—scores of them—yet sell at our low prices?

Because these values brought us buyers—145,000 last year. The major extra costs are divided by enormous output.

Let us show you the extras you get, because of these matchless facilities.

DIRIGIBLE SERVICE WILL CARRY MINERS INTO ARCTIC CIRCLE

ANCHORAGE, Alaska—Prospector miners and trappers will be taken into the Arctic Circle by dirigible next summer, if a company, whose representatives now are in interior Alaska carries out announced plans.

Those organizing the project say they believe the dirigible will prove a solution for the placer operator, who finds the long slow routes of waterways and dog trails a serious problem in time and financing. The "farthest north" trappers are confronted with the same difficulty.

The first airship will ply according to the announcement, between Fairbanks, the Chandelar and Koyukuk. It is planned eventually to extend the service to other districts.

If dirigible transportation is this installed, the traveler will reach the Arctic Circle within eight days after sailing from Seattle. He would travel by boat six days, landing in Anchorage, then by train 24 hours to Fairbanks, whence he would be whisked through the air for the last and hardest lap of the journey.

With the passing of many of the famous old placer camps south of the Yukon, the prospector has pressed over northward, into the shadow of the Polar wilderness. However, the promising fields within the Arctic Circle often require hydraulic operations, and even where a "pay discovery" has been made, it is a matter of weeks, sometimes months, to get a force of miners and the equipment over the snow and ice trails into the remote sections.

The company's representatives declare they can carry two tons of men and equipment into the Arctic in a few hours, at a cost of about one-fourth that entailed by dog-sled transportation.

The dirigible also may be used to take summer tourists for visits to "the Arctic silences."

The announcement of the contemplated dirigible service has stirred in Alaska towns a clamor for mail to be delivered by air to such points as Nome, the Upper Kuskokwim and the Kobuk country. At present this mail is carried by dogs and requires from two weeks to a month after it leaves the Alaska Railroad. The parcel post business has grown to such dimensions that it is costing the government a heavy sum to supply points that are cut off from modern transportation. Steamers reach Nome in summer, but the Bering Sea town is ice-locked and dependent on communication by overland trail most of the year.

RECTOR NAMES IDEAL BRITISH CABINET OF BIBLE CHARACTERS

LONDON—A politically inclined minister of the Church of England has constructed what he considers to be an ideal cabinet, drawing all the office holders from the Bible.

The rector has nominated St. Stephen as prime minister "because he is likely to show the nation and the individual a most irresistible combination of personality and intelligence." For home secretary, Tabitha and Pricilla are passed over in favor of Rachel, "a woman all the way through." Joshua is given the post of secretary for war, while Adam comes in as minister of agriculture.

Other nominations include: St. Matthew, chancellor of the exchequer; Timothy, board of education; Gallio, lord chancellor.

Hartselle News

There is every probability that there will be a larger amount of commercial fertilizers used in this county in growing the coming crop than used during 1923. Already reservations have been made through the Morgan County Farm Bureau, and other dealers are stocking up with the goods, and will also cater to the trade. There has been much said about the manner of planting and working the crop of cotton the present season, use of fertilizer, etc. From every section comes the report that large individual acreages of cotton will be planted, also that in every section there is going to be those more conservative planters who will curtail the cotton acreage, endeavor to plant as early as possible, and use large quantities of commercial fertilizer, and make special efforts to work the crop intensively.

The local chapter of the W. C. T. U. will hold a memorial meeting next Sunday afternoon in honor of Frances E. Willard its founder. A program has been arranged by members of the chapter here, and will be in keeping with the work of the temperance leader. The services will be held at 2:30 o'clock at the First Methodist church.

A father's night program has been prepared by the local P. T. A. and will be presented at the city school auditorium next Friday night. Adlai West, editor of the Hartselle Herald, will preside as chairman.

Those assigned subjects for discussion at that time are: County Superintendent of Education, E. L. Hays, J. H. Riddle, principal of the M. C. H. S. I. V. Griffin, vice-president of the bank of Hartselle.

The Hartselle concert band will be seated on the stage and make the music for the occasion. After the ceremonies, a social hour will be observed. Mrs. Grover C. Graves is president of the local association.

Pneumonia has been very prevalent here for the past two months, and at this time, there are several cases directly in town and in close proximity thereto. The disease is more prevalent among children than adults. Several cases of whooping cough are also reported here at this time.

The pretty days of this week have put inspiration in the farmers of this section, and many are actively preparing things for the coming crop. The sale of seed oats is quite large according to the merchants dealing in field seeds, and should the pretty weather continue a large acreage will be sown. Up to this time it has not been possible to sow on account of continued cold and wet.

The county registrars were here two days this week, and reported that quite a large number availed themselves of the opportunity to register. A great many women voters also registered here at this time. The registrars state that practically everywhere they have visited, there is a dearth among the people in regard to registering, many not giving it a passing thought until too late.

Messrs. Puryear and Thompson wagon builders and wood working mechanics have just added another feather to their cap, as they have just completed and delivered to Messrs. Poole and Sherrill, wholesale and retail grocers here, an up-to-date dray wagon, made in entirety in their shop. Another thing which adds some achievement to the job is, that the buyers sought such a wagon from the large wagon manufacturers, and for some reason could not find one which in every way met their requirements. The wagon is in every way identical with these turned out by a large wagon concern, and the fact that it was made entirely in a local shop, is quite an advertisement for the local builders.

New York Letter

by Lucy Jeannie Price

NEW YORK, Feb. 14.—We have sometimes smiled at the solemnity and pomp of court room checkers. Maybe they had a right to it. In the courtroom of one of the Y. M. C. A. buildings here the attendant spent several years as vice governor of a large province of Central Russia, and his title of General is not merely an ornamental one. General Nicholas Stolopoff, it is, who passed out of Russian affairs with Kerensky, leaving behind him a record of important service for the Czar and a lost fortune. "I took the first job I could get," he explains without bitterness or boastfulness. "This is a comfortable though humble post. I shall become an American citizen and pass the rest of my life as peacefully as I can doing now."

The magazine field becomes highly intensified every day. The neighboring state of New Jersey would seem to have an unusually high class publication devoted almost exclusively to its interests and happenings. Characterized as a magazine of home interests, "Charm" has just been issued, replete in stunning features descriptive of the fashionable social life of that state. Mrs. Edison tells how she kept the great inventor fit by a proper system of dieties. Some of the charming New Jersey estates are pictured and a full account of intimate social events is chronicled. Fittingly enough John Greer Hibben, of Princeton University, writes the introductory editorial. If New Jersey can sustain as much smart interest as is indicated in the first issue, the magazine would seem entirely equal to telling of it.

Glints of human humor creep into the most serious columns of newspapers, to the brightening of our days. This communication in a morning paper particularly appeals to me. "Can anyone inform me," the writer pleads, "who Mr. Graham is, the man who invented a peculiarly horrible kind of bread and crackers? I want to expostulate with him."

If anyone believes that fox terriers take attention, let him some time try to bring a pet butterfly through the winter season. The New York woman has been doing that and as we approach the springtime, she is ready to enter it as a champion of attention-needers, if nothing else. She found it just before the cold wave set in and her sympathy flew out to the beautiful and delicate creature. She fixed it up in a box with some pine tree twigs, half a lettuce, a Chinese lily, a pan of water, some brown sugar and a spoonful of condensed milk. If you ever had the job of cleaning condensed milk off a butterfly you will appreciate that the last thought was a mistake. Anyhow, the gaudy, helpless thing survived but it looks pretty careworn. And the woman has hardly dared to go to sleep for fear a catastrophe would strike her pet.

The terrible power of suggestion is once more made a legal matter. A woman has brought suit in our courts against the Rapid Transit Company for $1,000. The crowd surged and shoved her off her feet in pushing her into the subway train, she declares with the result that her shinbone was injured. When the attorney for the corporation states that there had been no evidence of negligence on the part of the company, her counsel pointed out that the guard had called "Step lively!" and that the crowd was at such high tension that the order coupled with the power of suggestion had wrought the injury.

"Hell, Bent for Heaven," by Hatcher Hughes, which has been presented at a series of special matinees, has proved such a success that it has moved into the Frazee theater for a regular and probably a long run. It is a play of excellent humor and unusually adept characterization.

New Safe Way To Remove Teeth Stain

New Discovery Bleaches Dark Teeth Instantly!

A new safe treatment has been discovered which dissolves teeth stain instantly, giving dull, dingy teeth charming new whiteness and luster. This new treatment is called the Bleachodent Combination. It consists of a safe mild liquid and a new kind of paste. The liquid instantly curdles or softens the stains, while the paste removes them and if used daily prevents the formation of future stains. You just brush your teeth with a few drops of the liquid, then use the paste and before your very eyes your teeth acquire a clear, flashing whiteness that even ten times the scouring of old-fashioned methods could not give them.

It is vitally important that only safe, mild preparation like Bleachodent Combination be used on children's teeth, which are especially subject to stains and decay. Bleachodent Combination is safe and harmless, for its mild ingredients are especially combined to act only on the surface stains. It does not affect the enamel in any way. Gritty and a raspy dentifrices should never be used. If you want white, sparkling pearly teeth get Bleachodent Combination today. Costs only a few cents.
